Bio:

Peter's career includes roles in senior management, service planning and program evaluation in the disability services sector. For the past 15 years he has provided consulting services to government and non-government agencies involved with the delivery of health and community services. During this time Peter has successfully completed over 200 major projects for Commonwealth and State Governments and a large number of community based organisations.

Peter has particular skills in the area of quality assurance and program evaluation, including efficiency and effectiveness review. Features of Peter's work in consulting have been his capacity to provide a strong, rational basis for strategic and operational improvement, and the development of data collection and benchmarking systems. Outcomes of Peter's work include enhanced service monitoring, the development and sharing of best practice, and the use of both qualitative and quantitative indicators to build a framework for more effective service delivery. Peter is able to quickly build a strong rapport with people from diverse backgrounds, and his broad industry experience and understanding of issues confronting non-government organisations is valued by practitioners and policy makers alike.

Peter has experience conducting governance reviews across a broad range of organisations and service types. He has experience in working cooperatively and building partnerships with Board members, CEOs, program managers and stakeholders, and has outstanding consultation and analytical skills, as well as skills in planning, management and troubleshooting.
